GENERAL INDEX

VOL. VI.

Aberration of the Planets, Delambre's Formulæ for the, 696
Abridgements, how far useful, 473
Acid, Muriatic, attempts to decompose, 329
African Institution, reports of the, 641, 674; purposes for which the Society was formed, 642; objects it has in view, 643, 650; proceedings of, 721 et seq.
Africans. See Negros.
Albumen, and other animal fluids, observations on, 319
Alfieri Victor, life of, 518 et seq.; manner in which he composed his tragedies, 527; character of his dramatic writings, 532; pride the predominant feature of his character, 533.
Alhambra, remarks on the, 545
Algebra, Mole's elements of, 152; Euler's Elements remarkable for perspicuity, 865; Inman's introduction to, 1123
Almanacks, Mathematical, historical sketch of, 562, 689
Ammonia, Professor Davy's experiments on, 323, 325
Anchor, heaving of the, described, 442
Angler, neat sketch of an, 556
Argonautic Expedition not improbable, 9
Arts, strictures on the alledged neglect of the, 900, 902
Artist, to be judged of by his system, not the exceptions to it, 398
Associate minstrels, poem on silence, 750; on the competition of the sexes, 753; addressed to a brother on his coming of age, 755
Augustin, a writer of a high order, 466; bombastic account of his conversion, 876
Auto-biography, its comparative advantages and disadvantages, 519

Baptism by laics, Sir J. Nicholl's determination of its validity in the Court of Arches, 363 et seq.
Barrow's merits as a preacher, 75; as a writer, 386
Barry, sketch of his life, 396 et seq.; his picture of St. Patrick, 396; of Elysium, 400; character as a painter, 402
Biography, Wordsworth's Ecclesiastical, 428. et seq.: privileges of, extended to insignificant individuals, 483: literary not uninteresting, 518
Boats wretched construction of in India, 427
Boostan of Sadee, character and contents of, 106
Borough, Mr. Crabb's poem of the, 546
Bossuet, qualities of his eloquence, 872; compared with Fenelon, 873; and Massilon, 876; remarks on his history of the variations, 873; his servile spirit of adulation, 875
Botany should be learnt systematically, 261
Bourdaloue, estimate of the merits of, 876
Breeding in and in, its tendency to degenerate the breed of domestic animals, 85
Brazil, the history of, does not possess much importance, 789, 800; Mr. Southey's history of, 789 et seq.; remarkable narrative of Hans Stade, 791 et seq.; missionary efforts of the Jesuits, 798
Bridaine, striking extract from, 875
British Georgics, Mr. Grahame's poem of, 769 et seq.: character of Mr. Grahame's poetry—his beauties all of one kind, 769, 770; disadvantages of didactic poetry, 774
Bullion, high price of, owing to the depreciation of Bank notes, 217
Butler—Warburton's ingenious and lively criticism on, 742
Burial—cannot be refused on the ground of irregular baptism, 363 et seq: of contagious corpses in a village churchyard, 857

Cahars, or Palanquin bearers, curious tribunals of, 424
Calculus, account of one unusually large, 242
Calcutta, precautions to Europeans on their arrival there, 423
Calmucks described by Dr. Clarke, 1021
Calvinism guarded from misrepresentation, 550, 565
Canibalism remarks on, 797, 827
Capac and Oella, romantic story of, 407
Cape of Good Hope, state of husbandry in that settlement, 422
Card-table scene, lively representation of, 558
Carpentry in rhyme, exemplified, 414
Ceremonies, religious, their effect on the mind, 534
Charibs, their extermination finely described, 279
Chemical researches by Professor Davy and others, 327 et seq.; 807 et seq.
Chemists—their importance in the French revolution, 14
Children—impropriety of attempting to connect in the minds of, ideas of the Divine displeasure with trivial faults, 21; difficulty of descending to the level of their conceptions, 937; importance of impressing

INDEX.

on their minds the omnipresence of the Deity, 939
China, Sir G. Staunton's translation of the penal code of, 943 et seq., 1025 et seq.; fundamental and supplementary, 944; analysis of, 1025 et seq.; fear the source of government and tranquillity the end, 1029; inutility of nice and subtle distinctions in legislation, 1031; edict of a Chinese Emperor, 1035; and curious reasoning, 1039
Chinese chronology, in so far as authentic, may be reconciled with the inspired writings, 946; government, patriarchal character of, 1035; literature, not likely to spread much in this country, 944
Commentators of Job and Shakespeare, 737
Constance de Castile, a poem by Mr. Sotheby, 904; Pedro's adventure in the cave, 911; picture of morning, 912; death of Alonzo, 914; portrait of Constance, 914; Vision of Pedro, 915; Mr. Sotheby compared with Mr. Scott, 914.
Chronology, perplexities of, 1; Dr Hales's new analysis of, 1 et seq.; System of Newton condemned, 4; of Josephus vindicated, 7; Chinese, not irreconcilable with the inspired writings, 946
Christian graces, portriature of, 268
Christianity, Pearson's dissertation on the propagation of, in Asia, 124 et seq.; compared with paganism, 466 et seq.
Church the, compared to Noah's Ark, 737
Civilization—modes in which it has been effected, 644
Classical studies, utility and abuse of, 465
Columbiad the, a poem by Mr. Barlow, 403, et seq; for what chiefly remarkable 403, 416; romantic story of Capac and Oella, 408; heroi-comic personifications, of war and cruelty, 412; carpentry in rhyme, 413; grand philosophical congress in the plains of Memphis, 415.
Columbium and Tantalum, on the identity of, 237
Comets, observations on by Hevelius, Doerfel, and Newton, 694
Convocation dispute, account of, 56
Connaisance de tems, pour 1810, et 1811, contents of, 689 et seq. 779 et seq.
Corporate bodies—mistaken way in which they are accustomed to renew leases, 603
Cossacks, description of the, 1017
Covetousness, the sin and punishment of, 79
Criticism, biblical—genuineness of I. John, v. 7, 8, discussed; use and importance of, 714
Crannies, or native East Indian Clerks, ludicrous attempt of, in fine writing, 423
Creole planter, description of, 299
Criminal Law of England, Sir S. Romilly's proposed reforms in, 371; strictures on the sanguinary character of, 1028
Cruelty to animals reprobated, 757; many modes of, sufficiently definable for legal cognizance, 980, 981; criminality of, 983; and baneful effect of, on the moral feelings 984
Currency, national, diseased state of the, to what attributable, 216 et seq.

Delille's Jardins, merits of, 45—Homme de champs—Le Malheur, et la Pitié, 41—Trois Regnes de la Nature, 47 et seq. 133 et seq.; preliminary discourse, 47; arguments, 50; apostrophe to Pascal, 53; eulogy on the harp, 133; description of the war-horse, 134; literary and scientific character of the poem, 137
Della Cruscan academy, origin of the, 974
Demosthenes, able portrait of, 872
Dewan, the, of Sadee, contents of described, 104
Diamond, the, may consist of carbonaceous matter, 228
Divine government, Browne's Bampton Lectures on the uniformity of, 888; the subject ill adapted for popular discourses, 888,9; ages of the world not analagous to those of man, 890
Divinity—Dr. Marsh's course of lectures on the several branches of, 713
Doctrinal and Practical subjects, compared as to their facilities of discussion, 73
Drawing of naked figures, and from life, strictures on, 626
Duels—whether they ought to be decided by sword or pistol, 147

Easter, how celebrated in Russia, 687
Eclectic Review defended from the cavils of Mr. I. Pharez, 62, 155
Edinburgh reviewers, flat contradictions of, 746
Education professional, Edgeworth's Essays on, 10 et seq. 140 et seq. preparatory discipline, 11; clerical education, 16; military and naval, 140 et seq; what war actually is, and how far compatible with Christian morality, 141; education for public life, 151
Ellipsoids, homogeneous, on the attractions of, 316
Elocution, effect of, impaired by peculiarities of accent or gesture, 24
Eloquence of the pulpit, see Pulpit
Engraving—account of the principal kinds of, 624
Erasmus—his life to be ranked among the happiest subjects of biography, 997; his devotedness to learning, 999; his conduct towards the reformers, 1000

INDEX.

Expectorated matter, varieties of, 315
Euclid's elements seldom published entire, by any of his British editors, 193
Euler's writings distinguished by simplicity, 865

Fall of Cambria, a poem by Mr. Cottle, 1078; et seq.; the present times unfavourable to epic poetry, 1016; march of Edward's troops to Chester, 1078; death of Llewellyn, 1078
Feroe islands, Landt's description of the, 450 et seq; their geography and climate, 452; appearances of the sea in stormy weather, 454; state of agriculture, 457; occupations of the Islanders, 457; bird catching, 458; whale fishery, 459; trade and exports, 460; population, religious establishments, 461
Fermat's theorem, observations on, 869
Fever seated in the whole nervous system rather than in the brain, 1008
Fox, Mr., character of, 366
France, didactic poetry of, see Poetry.
Franklin's fable against persecution imitated from the Boostan of Sadee, 107
French government, letter of an American on the genius and disposition of the, 350 et seq. Bonaparte why admired, 350, 1, his power the mere offspring of the genius and necessities of the republic, 352; France a military nation, 353; system of taxation, 355
Frogs and Nightingales, singular concert of, 1017
Future state, evidences and intimations of a, 652

Geddes, Michael, interesting narrative of his sufferings in the dungeons of the holy office, 215
Genius and no genius, an invidious distinction in the business of education, 13
Genuineness of 1 John v. 7, 8, discussed, 63 et seq. 155 et seq.
Geography, Marlow synopsis of, 316
Geometry, Euclid's elements of, seldom published entire, 193; Playfair's edition of the first six books an unacknowledged copy of Simpson's, 194; professor Leslie's elements more remarkable for fine writing than or accuracy, 196 et seq.
Gertrude of Wyoming and other poems, 718 et seq; O'Connor's child, 719
Gessner—Baker's translation of his select Idylls, 628 et seq. remarks on his style of composition, 629; more known abroad than at home, 946
Giants pasteboard, their importance in the religious processions of Valencia, 120
Gold, fluctuations in the price of, accounted for, 225
Grahame compared with Montgomery, 441; distinguishing peculiarity of his poetry, 769
Greek church, gross idolatry of, 682, and superstition, 685

Hans Stade, remarkable adventures of, 791
Harp, eulogy of, by Delille, 133
Hebrew bible, Boothroyd's edition of the, 897
Hindoos, singular practices of particular sects of, 708, 711
Holy cross, church and monastery of, for what purpose built, 251
Home, the love of, universal, 279
Hooker, character of his style, 386
Huet's memoirs of his own life, 482 et seq. motives to the undertaking, 182, 3; view of his character, 458; outline of his biography, 489 et seq.
Hurd's (Bp.) family history, 743; account of his acquaintance with Warburton, 744
Hymns for infant minds, 937

Ichneumon, description of the, 427
India, the propagation of Christianity in that country, in what manner opposed, 125; by what arguments recommended, 131: British administration of, justified by Dr. Tennant, 225; wretched state of, beyond the European jurisdiction, 258; Wilkes's historical sketches in the south of, 699 et seq; strictures on political quietism, 700; superstitious notions of the golden age of India, 702; state of, in early times, inferred from a single word, 703; history of the kingdom of Mysoor, 704; question of landed property discussed, 705, 710; manners of the Hindus, 707, 711; character of the Mahrattas, 711
Incarceration, true principles of, 563
Indians, American, physical and moral character of the, 1064
Inquisition, Lavallée's history of the, 209 et seq.
Insanity, history of, connected with that of the human mind, 262; 'devotional' remarks on, 273, 550
Instruments astronomical, improvement in the manner of dividing, 235; method of examining the divisions of, 236
Ireland, Milner's observations on the inhabitants and antiquities of, 225; pious language of the lower classes! 230
Irish spelling book, 416
Isaiah, Macculloch's Lectures on, 515

INDEX.

Job,—sarcastic observations on his commentators, 737
Jones, Sir W., created a taste for Asiatic literature, 98; recommended the study of the Persian, 98; printed the poem of Leily and Mejnoun, 99
Jortin's Life of Erasmus not a finished performance, 998
Josephus, chronology of, defended, 7
Jovellanos—the object of his memoir, 121

Knowledge, advantages of, to the lower classes, 631
Kremlin, general appearance of the, 1011

Lady of the Lake, Mr. Scott's poem of, 577 et seq.; causes of Mr. Scott's popularity, 577, 9; analysis of the story, 579 et seq.; description of a stag hunt, 580; of highland scenery, 580,6; of Ellen, 581; Fitzjames, 582; Roderic Dhu, 583,5; Bryan the hermit, 587; of the combat, 592; this poem superior to Marmion, 596; its merits and defects, 596 et seq.
Lead, a native arseniate of, described, 233
Levity on religious subjects how manifested and its pernicious effects, 533
Life annuities and assurances—history of the science, 499; Baily's doctrine of, 499 et seq; 602 et seq.
Life assurance companies in London, Baily's view of, 368
Lives, table of the duration of, 607
Lisbon, reflections on the Earthquake at, 738
Logarithms,—systems of Briggs and Napier compared, 31; method of finding the modulus in any system of, 1099
Love, maternal, its qualities as distinguished from other attachments, 164
Lucretius—his being afraid to attack the popular mythology of his country, a vulgar error, 48

Madness, Haslam's observations on, 269 et seq; singular delusions of maniacs, 272; Mr. H.'s illiberal reflections on what is called religious melancholy, 274
Magnesia, effects of, in preventing the secretion of uric acid, 896
Mahadeo, Hindoo story of, 708
Mahrattas, character of the, 711
Man, the destination of, completely overlooked by a fashionable moralist, 881
Maniac, description of the death of a, 914
Manners of a people illustrated by their language, 793
Martin's defence of the genuineness of I John v. 7, 8, futile and absurd, 62, 155
Massillon's eloquence compared with that of Bossuet, 876
Maury's, Cardinal, impudent estimate of English preachers, 878
Meridian—Lyons's rule to find the corrections of passages over the, 698
Mesta, account of the, 121
Metals of the earth are metallic oxides, 815
Methodism, ridicule of, censured by Dr. Paley, 533; on its vague application as a term of reproach, 747
Milton's prose style, energy of, 387
Mexico city of, possesses extensive scientific establishments, 1063; academy of painting, 1063; the present and former state of the city compared, 1069; its population, 1070.
Mexico, kingdom of, see New Spain
Mohout, or elephant driver, duties of a, 424
Monastic institutions, effect of, 542
Montagu, Mrs., letters of, 112 et seq; profane employment of the language of the bible, 1117; examples of her epistolary qualities, 1119 et seq.
Montfort, Simon de, spirited portrait of, 211
Morality not to be sacrificed to convenience, 23; Gisborne's sermons on, 71 et seq; by many preachers too much neglected, 72; occasion of this neglect described, 72; the judicious management of practical subjects is more difficult than the discussion of doctrinal points, 73 et seq.; Moral duties to be performed with a view to please God through our Lord Jesus Christ, 78; Sin and and punishment of covetousness, 79. Systems of morality pernicious, which inculcate virtue from unworthy motives, 883
Moralist, prerequisites of the, 880
Mother the, a poem, by Mrs. West, 165, et seq. maternal love the dearest and most delightful of all earthly affections, 164,5; tribute to the memory of Lady Maria Micklethwaite, 467
Mountains, the altitudes of the most elevated, 620
Muscular action, remarks on the duration of, 805.

Nature, African, personified, 279
Negroes, mode of their capture, 298; conversion of, 300; battle of, finely described, 442; escape of one who had been taken prisoner, 447; vindicated from the false and contradictory representations of the abettors of the slave-trade, and objections to the civilization of, answered, 646 et seq.
New Spain, Humboldt's Essay on the kingdom of, 1057 et seq; its geography imperfectly known, 1058; its extent and physical aspect, 1059; great elevation of the table land, 1059; possibility of uniting the South Sea and Atlantic Ocean, 1061: population rapidly increasing, 1062; divided into casts, 1063: territorial division of New Spain, 1066; city of Mexico, 1059; volcanoes, 1070; agriculture and vegetable productions, 1072

Newtonian chronology, errors of, 4; theory of comets not conjectural, 695

Nicolson (Bishop) correspondence of, 54 et seq; dislikes the society for the reformation of manners, 55; takes part in the convocation quarrel, 56; his treatment of Dr. Atterbury, 58; secular cast of his letters, 61

Nitrogene, not formed from hydrogene and oxygene, 810

Novels, strictures on, 618

Novelty of subject advantageous to periodical writers, 735

Opie, Life of, 510 et seq; professional character of, 512

Painting, French school of, sarcastically condemned, 513; inferior to poetry in the art of telling a story with effect, 902

Paper currency, excess of, how it operates, 220

Parliamentary interest, effect of, in regard to promotion in the church, 16

Pascal Delille's apostrophe to, 52

Passions not irresistible, 535; short treatise on, by a pseudo-lady, 634

Paul, emperor of Russia, anecdotes of, 679

Paule's life of Whitgift bigoted and dishonest, 437

Persian language, the study of, recommended by Sir W. Jones, 97; deteriorated by Arabisms, 102; MSS. confused and inaccurate state of, 98; inferior to printed editions, 105

Personifications should be used sparingly, 752

Philosophical transactions. See Transactions

Phosphorus and sulphur probably contain oxygene, 328

Picus of Mirandula, — extraordinary circumstances attending his birth, 309

Playfair, professor, remarks on his unacknowledged transcriptions from Simson's Euclid, 193

Platina and native palladium of Brazil, analysis of, 233

Polignac's Anti-Lucretius, not strictly a decriptive poem, 44

Poetry didactic of France, general survey of, 43: fugitive, its quick accumulation, 174: American, peculiar phraseology of, 406: didactic, disadvantages of, 771: epic, the present times unfavourable to, 1073; its power of exciting interest diminished, 1075; this not to be lamented in a moral point of view, 1076

Poets in order to please must be heard with indulgence, 291; fanciful motives attributed to them, and from what motives they really do write, 405

Pope's imitations of Horace, Warburton's remarks on, 741

Population of the principal towns in England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, and the United States, 621

Poussin, just and discriminative character of, 904

Porson, shameful abuse of, by a puny scribbler, reprobated, 164

Portugueze nation, degraded estimate of the, 537; good enough for their government, 538

Practical subjects more difficult of discussion than points of doctrine, 73

Price's, Dr., Tables of annuities, object of, 505

Pride the sole principle of reformation resorted to by a fashionable moralist, 887; the way to find out, a poem, 940

Profaneness not to be tolerated merely because it is appropriate to character, 885

Processions, religious, absurdities of, in Spain, 120

Pulpit, Cardinal Maury's essay on the eloquence of the, 871, et seq.; cautions against the abuse of talent, 871; character of Demosthenes, 872; Bossuet, 873,5; striking extract from Bridaine, 874; Bourdaloue, 876; Massilon, 876,7; M Maury's dogmatical estimate of English preachers, 877; inconsistency of his conduct, 879

Quietism, political, strictures on, 700

Ramayuna of Valmeeki, 828 et seq.; superlative absurdities of, 839; our expectations in Sanscrit literature disappointed, 829 et seq.

Rattle snake, case of a man who died in consequence of the bite of a, 893

Reformation, beneficial effects of the, 1001

Reformers vindicated from illiberal censure, 1000

Religion, low state of, in the catholic countries of Europe, 535

Respiration, experiments on, 222

Rings coloured, concentric cause of, imperfectly explained by Dr Herschel, 239

Robertson's history of America defective and inexact, 798

Romney, Hayley's life of, 610 et seq.; estimate of his professional character, 614

INDEX.

Rosset's poem on agriculture, a mere versified catalogue, 44

Russia Tartary, and Turkey, Dr. Clarke's Travels in, 674, 923, 1011; anecdotes of the Emperor Paul, 679; precautions for travelling in Russia, 681; idolatry and superstition of the Greek church, 683; Heathenism of the Russian population, 684; pageants and excesses of Easter, 687, 9; Russian nobility, splendor of their balls, 923; quality of their libraries, 925; their custom of trafficking, 925; instances of their meanness, 926; their profuse magnificence, 926; and barbarism, 927; Russian peasantry, oppressed state of, 929; particulars in their economy, 932; not destitute of generosity, 935; their wonderful talent of imitation, 935; Moscow, 1011; the kremlin, 1012; the baths, 1013; appearance of the vast plains called steppes, 1014; monumental tumuli, 1015; Malo Russians, 1016; frogs and nightingales, 1017; the Cossacks an animated, brave, active, and generous people, 1017, 19; a branch of them established in Siberia, 1020; the town of Tscherchaskoy, 1018; the Calmucks, 1021; the Kuban Tartars, 1023

Ryots former and present condition of, in India, 259; nature of their tenure, 706

Sâdee's Works, edited by Mr. Harrington, 98 et seq. a taste for Asiatic literature excited by Sir W. Jones; life of Sâdee by Dowlet Shah, 99; and Ibrahim Khan, 101; what the Dewan consists of, 106; what the Boostan, 106; the Persian language deteriorated by Arabisms, 109

Salt, analysis of several varieties of, 895

Sanscrit literature, disappointment of our expectations in, 826

Sandemanianism, Fuller's strictures on, 733; et seq. uncatholic spirit of, 733

Saturn's-ring— Lapplace's memoir on, 785

Schism, remarks on, 917

Scott, Mr. why a popular poet, 576; compared with Mr. Sotheby, 917

Sea at sunrise, beautiful description of the, 848

Sea sickness, from what it arises, and how it may be counteracted, 805

Selections of a writer's beauties, injurious rather than beneficial, 1044

Serassi's Life of Tasso copious and authentic, 962

Sermon writers, different classes of, 632

Sexes, poem on the competition of, 735

Shajee, a Mahratta prince, anecdote of, 712

Silence, a poem on, 750; not an active personage, 752

Sin, confession of, remarks on, 919; why mankind continue under its dominion, 920

Slave Trade, improvements which may be expected to succeed the abolition of, 727; still carried on in defiance of the abolition laws, 729. Poems on the abolition of the, 289, 440; Mr. Montgomery entitled to the praise of genius, 292; soliloquy of Columbus, 295; and feelings on the discovery of the New Continent, 296; African nature personified 297; the love of home universal, 279; Mungo Park's anecdote of the negro girls versified, 297; capture of the negroes, 298; multitudes who died on the voyage, 298; creole planter, 299; conversion of the negro, 300; imaginary picture of Britannia, 301; faults and merits of Mr. Montgomery, 362 et seq Mr. Grahame contrasted with Mr. Montgomery, 441; apostrophe to the magnetic needle, 441; battle of negro tribes, 442; horrible situation of the slaves under hatches, 443; conversion of the negroes anticipated, 444; Miss Benger's poem, 446; escape of a negro who had been taken prisoner, 448

Smokers, a club of described, 559

Sotheby, Mr. compared with Walter Scott, 917

Spain, Laborde's view of, 110 et seq; imperfectly known as to its geography and rural and political economy, 111; its prosperity and decline, 114; injured by the acquisition of America, 115; and the establishment of the inquisition, 115; character of the Valencian ladies, 119; object of Jovellanos' memoir on agriculture, 121; the Mesta, 121; Spanish schools, 123. Semple's second journey to, 536, et seq. the torpid state of, 536; the government of, 545; superstition of the people, 542; monastic institutions, 543

Specie, principles on which the market price of, depends, 218

Squalus Maximus, anatomical account of, 234

Starosta, a kind of bailiff 933

Steppe, in what it differs from a desert, 1015

System, advantages of in facilitating the acquisition of knowledge, 260

Taheitan language, remarks on, 417

Talc, substituted for glass, 426

Tales, Miss Edgeworth's, of fashionable life, 857; Miss Edgeworth faulty and incompetent as a moralist, 880, et seq; overlooks the destination of man 880; inculcates virtue on spurious principles, 883; tolerate profaneness, 885; pride the most powerful of her moral motives, 186

INDEX.

Tales of Romance, Elton's, with other poems, 1124; King Robert of Sicily, 1125; the legitimate son, 1126; ehe sabbath morning, 1127; musings, 1129

Tasso's history, hitherto imperfectly known, 961; circumstances which make it interesting 963; outline of his life, 964, et seq, 1083 et seq; birth and early studies, 965; accompanies the cardinal of Este to France, 967; the critical revisions of Jerusalem Delivered, affect his mental sanity, 868, 1085; curious and interesting letters written during his confinement, 1083; converses with a spirit, 1088; publishes his Gerusalemme Conquistata, 1089; is decreed the honour of a triumph, 1089; dies in the monastery of Sant Onofrio, 1090; account of his person and manners, 1090; his love of fame, 1091, merits and defects of Mr. Black's Life, 1095

Taylor, Jeremy, estimate of his merits and defects as a writer, 385 et seq; as a Christian teacher, 391; true practical use of his writings, 392 et seq.

Theology, moral requisites to the successful study of, 570, 713

Temperance conducive to health, 171

Thorshavn, account of, 453

Tillotson's merits as a preacher, 75; estimate of, by Bishop Warburton, 741

Tongataboo, description of, by a Missionary, 819 et seq; manners and amusements of the natives, 824 et seq

Transactions philosophical, 232, 315, 804, 892

Travellers, modern, wonderful superiority of in point of intellectual despatch, 229; different classes of, 673, 677

Travelling in Russia, precautions for, 631;

Trois regnes de la nature, see Delille

Trigonometry, Woodhouse's treatise on, 25 et seq; Bridge's Lectures on, 1096 et seq; formulæ deduced from the expressions for the sine and cosine (A plus B) 1097,8; method of finding the modulus in any system of logarithms, 1099, 1100

Tscherchaskoy, a town in Russia built on piles, 1018

Tumuli monumental, observations on, 1015

Valencian ladies, character of the, 119

Versification, admirable instance of successful, 278

Virgil's object in writing the Æneid, 405; Warburton's hypothesis of the design utterly fanciful, of the 70

Vision, the patriot's, 545

Volcano of Jorullo, extraordinary formation of, 1070

Wallace a poem by Miss Holford, 1088; portrait of Wallace, 1006; address to Linlithgow heath, 1108; night scene, 1108; pause before a battle, 1109, death of Agnes, 1110; apostrophe to the moon, 1111

Walton's character as a biographer, 434

War, what it actually is, 140

Warburton's, Bp. correspondence, 735 et seq; Commentators of Job and Shakespeare, 736, 7; the church compared to Noah's ark, 737; earthquake at Lisbon, 738; Warburton's vanity, 738; compared with Johnson, 740; Pope's imitations of Horace, 741; character of Tillotson, 741; criticism on Butler, 742; family history of Bishop Hurd, 743; occasion of his acquaintance with Warburton, 744

War-horse, Delille's description of the, 134; compared with that in the book of Job, 135

West Indies, Mr. Montgomery's poem of, 289; and other poems, 844; the harp of sorrow, 845; Pope's willow, 846; the roses, 847; the molehill, 847; the cast away ship, 848

Whale fishery described, 459

Winds, effect of westerly, in raising the level of the British channel, 321

Women, Miss Aikin's Epistles on, 1003; indignant homage to the superiority of man, 1005; the character of women in every age influenced by that of man, 1006

Woolaston could not descend to the level of nature, 467

Zemindars, not the rightful proprietors of land in India, 708